Celebrating and strengthening the voice of older people through the arts

A series of events throughout Northern Ireland

April 2018
Message from the Chair

Welcome to the Arts & Age Festival

The Arts Council of Northern Ireland, alongside our partners working in the fields of arts, age and the health and care professions, is delighted to be hosting Northern Ireland’s third annual Arts & Age Festival. The festival offers a month-long series of events, throughout the region, highlighting the contribution that artists and arts organisations are making to the lives of our older citizens through the Arts & Older People Programme. Key social, health and wellbeing issues that are addressed include poverty, isolation, loneliness, and the promotion of positive mental health.

This short brochure provides an overview of the main festival events taking place during April. The centrepiece event is the Arts & Age Conference 2018 at Cultra Manor on April 17th. The theme of this year’s conference is ‘The Art of Dementia’, with keynote speaker Sebastian Crutch, a leading expert on dementia and the arts.

All of the events taking place during the festival month are supported by the Arts & Older People Programme. The programme is run by the Arts Council in partnership with the Public Health Agency and The Baring Foundation. Since its inception in 2013, it has involved more than 21,500 older people in the widest possible range of creative activities, increasing opportunities for positive engagement in the arts and challenging perceptions of what it means to be an older person.

Northern Ireland is an international leader in this field. I hope you will join us and our partners as we celebrate the achievements of the innovative Arts & Older People Programme and as we continue to develop inspirational creative solutions to the issues affecting older people.

Conference 2018

‘The Art of Dementia’

Cultra Manor, Cultra,
153 Bangor Road, Holywood, BT18 0EU
Tuesday 17th April 2018
10.00am–3.00pm

The Arts & Age Conference 2018 aims to highlight the benefits of the arts to the health and wellbeing of older people through the Arts & Older People Programme, which is supported by the Arts Council of Northern Ireland National Lottery fund, The Baring Foundation and the Public Health Agency.

Join us as we hear from speakers who will reveal, through their own work, the benefits of participating in arts activities for people with dementia. Contributors to the event include Sebastian Crutch, who is a leading expert on rare forms of dementia. His research is directed at improving our understanding of different types of the condition. He is also the Director of ‘Created Out of Mind’, a movement that opens up new conversations with the public that help shape perceptions of dementias and the arts.

Other contributors will be reflective of the difference the arts have made within their own practices. There will be interactive workshops to facilitate healthy discussion around the experience of those delivering art workshops and what it means for the participants.

The conference is aimed at policy makers, health agencies, artists, arts organisations and those working in the fields of arts and older people. It offers an opportunity to promote the benefits of creativity to the health and wellbeing of our older citizens.

Attendance is FREE but by application only.

The closing date to register your interest is Friday 30th March 2018.

To date, over 21,500 older people have participated in 136 creative arts projects funded through the Arts & Older People Programme, with activities taking place across Northern Ireland in a variety of settings.

The projects outlined in this brochure have workshops and events taking place during April 2018, and through the year, and reflect the range and breadth of arts activities taking place on a year-round basis.

In 2018, 19 Arts & Older People projects across Northern Ireland will benefit from Arts Council funding.
A Little of What You Fancy

Golden Thread Gallery

Based in Belfast, Golden Thread Gallery is working in partnership with Oh Yeah and an independent artist to deliver 8 taster and 12 workshop sessions of visual arts, words and music. The taster sessions will take place at Connswater shopping centre, libraries, community centres, public spaces and Oh Yeah centre. At the end of the project two showcase events will take place.

Workshops

The workshops will explore the art of album covers, song lyrics, small acoustic concerts and a performance element where the participants create their own album/group photo. These will take place at Kilcooley Women’s Centre, Ladybirds Group, Whiterock, Glenalina Care Home, Springfield Road and Newington Day Centre.

A Visual Memoir

ArtsEkta

This project involves the creative exploration of memories. Stories and experiences are brought to life through visual panels created in the workshops. Participants have explored reminiscence techniques to extract poignant and important memories and use objects or photographs to inspire the subject of their art pieces.

A series of workshops will see participants depict their own ‘Visual Memoir’ through a scrapbooking project. They will explore age-relevant issues such as loneliness, inclusion, wellbeing and negative stereotypes of ageing. Outcomes from these sessions will then be used to create a scrapbook of memories.

Showcase Exhibition

A Visual Memoir Showcase Coffee Morning will be held Tuesday 24th April 2018 for all to come along and see the artwork created so far. Tea and buns will be provided.

Telling Tales

Waterside Theatre Company, Derry-Londonderry

The Telling Tales Programme is an intergenerational art project linking together four care homes and four primary schools.

The project aims to engage directly with 100 older people who will all gain new skills through 40 weeks of 2-hour, high quality, intergenerational art workshops. The older people will work with artists and young people to produce pieces of art work, pieces of theatre and short stories around different themes, to include social issues and intergenerational equity, that will be displayed and showcased in the care homes, as well as at an event in the theatre in April 2019.

Music workshops for men aged over 55 years are taking place in two venues, the Library, Strabane and the Tower Museum, Derry with Mickey Joe Harte and Terry McCafferty. There is a programme of music and this year the drama side will be developed, with creative writing around the history of the various music eras.

During the Arts & Age Festival, weekly intergenerational workshops will take place in Longfield Care Home, Templemoyle Care Home, Greenfield Care Home and Rectory Field Care Home throughout the month of April.

A Stitch in Time

Void Gallery Derry

At the turn of the 20th century, Derry’s skyline was dominated by the smoke rising from the chimneys of the city’s shirt factories. More than 30 firms in Derry made shirts and collars, employing 7,000 women / girls and thousands more out-workers in surrounding districts.

A Stitch in Time is a multi-disciplinary contemporary art project with artist facilitators Mhairi Sutherland, Karen Cassidy, Stephanie Gaumond, Tina McLaughlin, Denise Blake and Louise Walsh. Participants from the third & fourth age sectors including: active age groups, nursing homes, day care centres, community groups are invited to come to Void to take part in a series of workshops in printmaking, painting, poetry and textiles. The gallery will also present an exhibition of work detailing the women in the City Shirt Factory by the artist Louise Walsh along with a special workshop and panel event programme.

Workshops

Throughout the Arts & Age Festival, Void Engage will deliver a series of workshops, talks and tours in conjunction with the exhibition and aimed specifically at older people.

Exhibition

EngAGE Art

Beth Johnston Foundation / Linking Generations NI

Co-ordinated by Linking Generations NI and targeting social isolation and loneliness, Generation Art aims to engage older people in intergenerational arts projects in the Ards Peninsula, supporting improved understanding and increasing mutual respect.

The aim of the project is to use art to bring older and younger people together to create art for display in the care homes. This will involve helping young people understand communicating with older people with various degrees of Dementia. The result is to create art with positive outcomes such as building relationships that will help the wellbeing of the older people and overcome social isolation. The project will also create new and lasting community involvement and encourage volunteering.

Generation Art Exhibition

An exhibition will be held in the last week in April.

For further information, contact Linking Generations NI on 028 9181 3022 or email infolgni@bjf.org.uk

Young at HeART

Beam Creative Network, Donaghmore

A creative hub in the heart of Donaghmore, BEAM Creative Network provides workshops for older people in photography, upcycling, textiles, painting and drawing through the Arts & Older People Programme.

Now in its fourth year, Young at HeART targets older people not involved in other groups or organisations, directly tackling issues of social exclusion. A key contributor to the success and impact of the programme is the provision of transport for participants living in rural areas, breaking down barriers to access to the arts.

Workshops

Venue: Torrent Complex, Donaghmore.
Dates: Thursday mornings

Exhibition

An exhibition of the work will be held at the Torrents Complex, Donaghmore.

Artful Care Staff, Artful Older People

Community Arts Partnership

Community Arts Partnership begins its two-year Artful Older People project, which includes co-facilitated, multi-art form workshops for older people with dementia in six residential settings in Belfast, Lisburn and beyond. CAP will be training, mentoring and supporting care staff to get involved in arts activities whilst the artists are in situ and create a continued legacy of creative work once the project is finished.

In year two of the project CAP will be working with a further three care setting groups; if you would like to express an interest in your group participating please get in touch. In 2019 CAP is also planning ‘Time for You’ workshops for carers and ‘Time for Us’ workshops for carers and the loved ones they care for.

Please contact CAP to register.

ENGAGE

ABC Community Network

Improving the lives of older people is the focus of the ENGAGE project which seeks to help them become more involved in community life, make new friends and participate in new activities through engagement in the arts. Participants have the opportunity to take part in a variety of arts activity and to create an original piece, possibly for the first time. The project will target older people’s groups, in a variety of community settings, in the Craigavon Neighbourhood Renewal areas.

The programme, which commenced in October 2017 for eight months, comprises 50 taster sessions and six 6-week traditional craft sessions including wood carving, stone carving, basket weaving, living willow sculpture, glass artistry and leather craft.

Full details of programme activity – dates, times and venues will be promoted at www.abccommunitynetwork.com and a variety of social media platforms. For more information contact ABC.

Artful Ageing
Radio Drama

Eastside Arts

Jan Carson has been guiding participants with experience of caring through the development, writing, recording and editing process of two short radio dramas exploring the issues and experiences related to being a carer. The two radio dramas produced, and a bespoke users’ toolkit will be available to local carers groups and organisations in the hope that they will provide an opportunity to begin conversations about both the positive and negative aspects of caring for another person.

Event

An event will be held at which the two new radio plays will be premiered and where you can hear from the participants who created them. This will take place at the Arches Wellbeing & Treatment Centre on Wednesday 18th April at 7pm.

Talents of Accolade

Accolade

Based on the interest expressed following previous music singing and instrumental workshops and visits from other community music groups, events are arranged to suit each group’s needs and requirements. This includes interest in instruments, type and style of music, songs and traditions. The programme is managed to suit the abilities (physical and mental) of the group’s members. The development of skills (motorical, breathing improvement, rhythmical) follows the professional advice of experienced musicians and facilitators. Performances are found to be a desirable way of expression for all members of the groups.

Workshops
Sessions will be held in Newry Arts Centre, Lurgan Jethro Centre, Bessbrook Community Centre and Crossmaglen Community Centre. Workshops will take place each week from January through to July.

For further information on the project contact 078 5712 5893 or email accolade.acac@gmail.com

Neillsbrook Fold Tenants Association

The project aims to engage three groups within the mid Ulster area. Each group has been exploring different artforms, with the majority of participants trying them for the first time. The groups are connecting with local fundraising events and have taken influence from the local area to produce creative pieces. Also one of the groups is working with fabric and hoping to produce individual pieces for the first time.

QFT is a two screen cinema that has occupied a unique place in the cultural and entertainment life of Northern Ireland since 1968. To celebrate the milestone of turning 50, QFT is working with three Seniors groups’ participants who can share their memories of the films they have seen, and experiences of cinema going they have had over the last 50 years.

There will be four creative workshops and a celebration showcase event, as well as a public screening planned by the groups. The final showcase and celebration event at QFT will include all participants reading a short piece that they have written about their cinema going memories, screening of the short trailers they have produced, and exhibition of the posters they have created.

For more details about the locations and dates of the workshops and exhibitions please contact artistnormabeggs@gmail.com
